2. A positive location for the "cottage" cannot be ascertained [REDACTED]

If an assumption is made that the film clips were taken somewhere within the confines of the Tyuratam Missile Test Center, then the only possible location for the "cottage" is at Launch Complex "A" Support Area. Four structures are located in the southeastern section of the launch support area which are generally similar in size and appearance to those depicted in the movie. These were initially identified from TALENT photography dated [REDACTED] reported in HTA/JR-4/58, September 1958. The structures appear the same on recent KEYHOLE photography.
